Last year the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation purchased 573,072 pounds of apples and 412,988 pounds of frozen fish in Maine. This surplus food was distributed to welfare agencies in various states for the use of persons on relief.

More than three and a half million men, women and children have died from tuberculosis in the United States in the last 30 years.

Limerock Pomona

Limerock Valley Pomona Grange met Saturday with Pleasant Valley Grange. Greetings were extended from the host grange by Myron Young, response being made by Lloyd Crockett of North Haven Grange. Roll call found eight granges represented, each reporting what had been accomplished during the month. A splendid program was given with Mrs. Rackliff the lecturer. At roll call all responded with a reading or story; piano duet by the Sheldon girls of Camden; song by grange, Mrs. Lula Rice at piano; piano and Hawaiian guitar, Miss Nickerson and Mr. Landers; talk on shrubs and their care, S. L. Painter; question, "Which causes the most accidents, the back seat driver or front seat sweet-heart?" was opened by the Mass. piano selections. Following a delicious supper, business was resumed, the fifth degree being conferred upon Miss Geneva Hooper and Stuart Burgess. The program in charge of Miss Hooper had a reading by Mrs. Sprague and Mrs. Minnie G. Miles; song, Raymond Anderson and Myron Young; duet, Sheldon Girls; song by grange; reading, Florence Young.

The Easter Ball

Dancing, Beano, Entertainment, and Bowling Will Feature Event

The Easter Monday Ball, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, will be held Monday night at Community Building, with the promise of a record jollification. The entire proceeds of the affair will go toward the equipment of the Chamber of Commerce office at the Building, the pleasant West Room. The dance will run from 9 to 1 o'clock and will unquestionably be a notable social event. It will be preceded, 8 to 9, by a remarkable battle of talent by local service clubs and the Legion, each putting on brief programs for the club entertainment championship of the Beano. Beano will be in order with what Milt Griffin says will be the best prizes ever. A special consideration is made of the gowns of the dancers so beano will in this case be conducted in the airy, immaculate tower room. Individual chairs will be provided for all players. Special prizes will be offered in the bowling competition that night.

It is hoped that generous public support will be accorded the affair as the Chamber, Community Building, Rockland citizens and tourists will all benefit directly. Additional comfortable chairs for the beautiful West Room, floor coverings, drapes, etc., are needed to make the tourist feel entirely at home and make the Chamber of Commerce and Community Building a real gathering point for summer visitors. Ample parking space for summer guests is available at the location and rest room facilities. The properly furnished room will make the Information Bureau, Chamber of Commerce a great asset to the community.

Dr. William Ellingwood is chairman of the affair and Community Building which is in full harmony with the Chamber in objects and effort is co-operating to air itself and the Chamber by contributing full use of all the facilities of The Building, auditorium, bowling alleys, tower room and all.

Holiday hours will be observed at Post Office on Patriot's Day as follows: Money order and registry windows will be closed all day; general delivery and stamp window will be open from 7 a. m. to 1 p. m. There will be one trip made by carriers in forenoon. Special delivery will be handled. Mails will be received and dispatched as usual.

Nothing is so exasperating as to pay an insurable loss out of your own pocket. This can be avoided by consulting us.

GOES TO BOOTHBAY HARBOR

Sea and Shore Fisheries Folds Tent At Thomaston—Reasons Assigned

Removal of the offices of the Department of Sea and Shore Fisheries from Thomaston has been completed. Several trucks transferred furniture, filing cabinets, records and other equipment to new headquarters established at the Depositor's Trust Company block in Boothbay Harbor by Commissioner Arthur R. Greenleaf. He announced that the boat and machine shop at Rockland would remain at its present location.

Greenleaf said that several private and State organizations including the State Police were interested in occupying the vacated offices which are located on Main street in the heart of the business section. A definite tenant was not announced.

Requests of fishermen and dealers for offices on the waterfront and a more central location to the major fish ports were given by Greenleaf as the principal reasons for transferring the Department to Boothbay. He said that fishermen complained of having to leave their boats and travel several miles inland to transact their business with the office.

Although Boothbay is not at the geographical center of the coast he believes that it is nearer the center of the greatest fishing activity. "About half way between Portland and Rockland, Maine's largest fish ports, the new location will make it handier for a larger number of interested citizens to avail themselves of the Department's services," he stated.

He also stated that considerable lobster rearing activity would be carried on at the Federal hatchery at Boothbay Harbor and that he felt the Commissioner should be in constant personal touch with "this important work of conservation and propagation." Closer co-operation between the State and Federal government on a long term hatchery program is a "bright possibility," he said.

"The move is entirely practical and one which I honestly believe to be the first advantageous step in the program I am formulating to improve conditions in our fishing industry," he stated.

Greenleaf said he was not establishing a precedent as it has been customary to maintain offices near the home of past commissioners and pointed out that the Department had previously been located at Portland, Rockland, Boothbay and Port Clyde. Headquarters were established here by ex-Commissioner H. D. Crie in 1933.

He stated that after getting "definitely established" he would announce a campaign to promote the industry which had been given the approval and would have the support of Gov. Lewis O. Barrows and the entire State government.

Mrs. Frank Hollowell of Rockland, chief clerk, and Mrs. Blanche Marshall of Thomaston, members of the office force, will continue their work in Boothbay.

"The Great Santini"

Widely Known Magician Is Spending His Vacation In Rockland

Frank Santini, known to the professional world as "The Great Santini, Magician," is a visitor in the city for two weeks while waiting for the Eastern Bazaar Shows to open a series of Maine engagements at Bangor. He is a guest here of Arthur Duncan, and is meantime open to any engagements in this vicinity which might be offered.

Born in Eastport in 1901, he has been engaged in show business for 27 years. His family moved to New Brunswick, Canada, when Frank was two years old. When eight Santini saw his first magic show. He was so impressed he resolved to become a worker of the magic.

A year later he ran away from home to join a traveling magician. He and his partner, an old time carnival man, who played under the name of "Chevalier the Great," sailed from coast town to coast town in Maine, presenting shows at every stop. Later he went to Hamburg, Germany, with Chevalier. The pair made three coast-to-coast tours.

Santini was a personal friend of Houdini and Thurston. He says he has attempted to communicate spiritually with Houdini several times since he died, but admits he has had no success.

The first state association established to fight tuberculosis was organized in Pennsylvania in 1892 by Dr. Lawrence F. Flick.

THE REPUBLICANS ORGANIZE

E. Stewart Orbeton Retained As Chairman Of County Committee, With No Opposition

With 28 members in attendance a highly enthusiastic meeting of the Republican County Committee was held in the Grand Jury room at the Court House yesterday afternoon.

E. Stewart Orbeton, who has served as chairman the past two years, presided over the meeting, with Mrs. Elmer True of Hope acting as secretary.

The session was called for organization purposes, and the members present proved to be of one mind that Mr. Orbeton should be continued in the chairman's office with which he is so thoroughly acquainted.

Mrs. Hattie Lawry of Friendship and John Kennedy of Camden were elected vice chairmen, Miss Eva Rogers was chosen secretary and Chester B. Hall of Warren treasurer.

The present Republican organization in Knox County shows the following lineup:

State Committee—Albert B. Elliot, Thomaston, and Mrs. Inez S. Crosby, Camden.

District Committee—Basil H. Stinson, Rockland, and Mrs. Alice Robbins, Union.

County Committee
Harry Elgecomb and Mrs. Howard Proctor, Appleton.

J. J. Kennedy and Cora I. Calder, Camden.

C. L. Mitchell, Cribbeham.

Fred Robinson and Rose Wales, Cushing.

E. A. Burns and Hattie Lawry, Friendship.

B. H. Nichols and Alice True, Hope.

C. H. Turner, Isle au Haut.

Foy W. Brown and Vannie Brown, North Haven.

Arthur Robbins and Ella Madocks, Owl's Head.

Another epic of the sea was written into the logbook of the White Head Coast Guard Station yesterday when John Wesley Sargent, 26, a Boothbay Harbor fisherman, unfolded the story of his four days' experiences, drifting helplessly along a rugged coastline in a 15-foot dory.

Refreshed by the rest which he had been denied during his 90 hours of peril, and strengthened by the food which was furnished him at the Coast Quize Station, Sargent was able to give for the first time a connected story of his miraculous escape from the elements.

The youthful fisherman shipped on the Portland schooner Nellie I. and early Monday morning left the craft in a dory to haul trawls. Success crowned his efforts, and when the sun reached the meridian his boat was so well laden that it had only half a foot of freeboard.

When he hauled the last line a sea nearly capsize his boat and he was thrown overboard. His struggles in the icy water, handicapped by his oilskins and heavy rubber boots, lasted for some moments and several times he nearly went under. Once he came up beneath the boat, and received a bad bruise on his head.

The boat was nearly swamped when he finally clambered aboard, to find in his dazed condition only one car remaining. The boat had no sail and he was obliged to use a crocus bag as a distress signal. The one or he used for sculling, purposes, keeping the little craft head to the wind.

He had confidently expected that he would be able to land somewhere

Smith Files Papers
Plenty of Activity Is Seen In the Good Old Second District

Representative Clyde H. Smith (R) Skowhegan, seeking renomination from the Second District for a second term, Thursday filed his nomination papers containing approximately 2300 signatures—about 1200 more than the required minimum of 1004.

Royden V. Brown, Skowhegan secretary of the Maine Senate, and Arthur R. Lancaster, Gardiner, who took out papers as candidates for the Republican nomination for Congress from the Second District had not filed.

F. Harold Dubord (D), Waterville lawyer and Democratic National committeeman, announced Thursday he would seek the Congressional seat now occupied by Smith.

Edward J. Hudon, Lewiston lawyer one of four other candidates for the Democratic Second District Congressional nomination, said he would withdraw in favor of Dubord. The others were State Senator Laurence J. Walsh and Mrs. Elizabeth Soucy, Lewiston, and former State Senator Walter C. Winn, Lisbon Falls.

"The Black Cat"

By The Roving Reporter

I have received a welcome letter from George Smith of East Walpole, Mass., whose memory of Rockland events is still very keen despite the fact that he left this city a goodly number of years ago. Yes, he remembers when they used to play "Indian" in Lindsey Grove and of the forfeits paid by those who were unfortunate enough to be caught. He remembers when somebody turned off the lights at a firemen's ball at Oakland Park. When the illumination was restored it was found that the prizes had vanished. Mr. Smith's among them. George misses those dances at Penobscot View Grange hall about 1905, also those at The Keag and East Union.

George Smith wants to know how many are left of the "gang," which worked with Prescelle, the hypnotist, in the old Farwell Opera House. There was a division of opinion as to whether the "extras" were hypnotized or not. "I can say they were not," writes Mr. Smith. "It was all acting." After the performances Prescelle never failed to take the boys down to Sanny Hatch's restaurant for lunch.

Mitt knows his milk. Mitt is a large black cat which has headquarters in the M. E. Cushman store at Searsmont. According to our correspondent the feline doesn't share the family's liking for canned milk and goes daily to the parsonage where Mrs. Wills serves him with new milk fresh from the Packard farm. Then he departs with a grateful meow.

Mrs. Letta Farrar Jones of Washington has a copy of the New York Herald of April 15, 1865, with a full account of the assassination of President Lincoln. It was a treasured possession of her father, the late A. Farrar.

Aurelia Ripley one of our South Thomaston correspondents, says that Mrs. Helen Rackliff has a month old kitten which deserves a special word in this column. It is not a black cat, to be sure, but its claim to distinction lies in the fact that it has six toes on one front paw and seven on the other. Six toes are not unusual, but who ever heard of a cat with seven toes? asks our correspondent.

Cliff Lufkin, of Glen Cove, in full sympathy with the plight of Neil Perry's alligator, which refuses to eat Northern victuals, brought down a bottle of flies, but still the animal balks and the hunger strike is still on. If anybody knows how to break it, Neil will welcome the suggestion.

Harry T. Baker writes thus from Goucher College, Baltimore, Md., where he holds a professorship: "I read The Black Cat regularly and find it a very agreeable addition to The Courier-Gazette pages. It always has something of strong human interest in it."

Many years ago it was my privilege to write an abstract of the essay written by Prof. Baker as Rockland High School valedictorian, and I prophesied then a brilliant future for him in the world of letters. His success as an educator and as a contributor of literary articles to newspapers and magazines has seen the triumphant fulfillment of that prediction.

And now, it seems, the Japs are on the run, Way over here on the side lines most of the fans appear to be rooting for the laundrymen.

Places I miss: The Orel E. Davies jewelry store—one of my most prolific sources of news while he was alive. Mr. Davies was one of the pioneers in motoring when the automobile first struck Rockland and was instrumental in forming an automobile association which thrived for several years until the horseless carriage ceased to be a novelty. He was a patron of all good sports, and was generally counted upon to "hold the watch" whether the occasion was a bicycle race, polo game, or sparring match. He filled an important niche in Rockland's social, business and athletic affairs.

An Appealing Poem

Written By Brother Of a Prominent Rockland Business Man

The following poem, entitled "The Hills of Old New England," was written by C. D. Crane, Jr., of Framingham, Mass., a brother of Kennedy Crane of Rockland. The father of the author says he has known the latter 52 years and never knew him to write a poem. Parental pride finds expression in the opinion that Junior has made a very good beginning and that the sentiment of the poem will awaken a response in every loyal New England heart.

THE HILLS OF OLD NEW ENGLAND

By C. D. Crane, Jr.
As I sit here in this New Year's time,
With my thoughts across the sea,
These hills of old New England
Look mighty sweet to me.
It's brother against brother
In the land of sunny Spain;
The Chinaman and the Japanese
Are fighting might and main.
There's trouble in the Holy Land,
In little Cuba too;
And down in South America
They don't know what to do.
The Russian bear has shown his teeth;
The British lion roared;
The Mussolini-Hitler crowd
Are playing with the sword.
There are black shirts, brown shirts,
Shirts of every hue;
Does this mean, "Happy New Year?"
I'll leave it up to you.
Yes, the world seems full of trouble,
And now, no doubt, you see
Why these hills of old New England
Look so mighty good to me.

For these are peaceful, friendly hills,
But you've got to do your share,
And if you can't do that, my friend,
You surely will despair.
They don't respond to "sitters-down,"
Or those who crave relief;
And if that's what you're looking for,
You'll surely come to grief.
But if you'll bend your back a bit,
Just get behind that walking plough
And let those horses start,
You'll find the soil responsive
To a little gentle care.
And wooded hills to furnish you
With fuel and food to spare,
You'll find you somehow seem to have
A greater faith in God;
Your head can be among the clouds
While your feet are on the sod.
Her streams and lakes are stocked with fish,
Her forests full of game;
And if you don't get your full share,
You've just yourself to blame.
Her sun-bathed mountain slopes invite
The sunbather and the skier;
Vacation land with all the thrills
She surely seems to be.

Yes, my friend, I've seen the sun
Roll up behind Pike's Peak;
And the prairie dog's piles of dirt
In good old Cripple Creek.
I've worked among the redwoods
Where the proud Columbia flows,
And Shasta raises up her head
In silence and repose.
I've seen the sun sink down to sleep
Behind the Golden Gate,
With "liners" streaming out between
The white foam in their wake.
I've stood beside the Great Divide
In reverence and awe.
As the murky Colorado
Rushed swiftly through its maw.
I've seen the surf dash at the rocks,
Though it wasn't quite like Maine;
And many other gorgeous spots
I hope to see again.
And yet, when all is said and done,
The place I'd rather be
Is in these old New England hills;
They're home, sweet home, to me.

Yes, that is just the way I feel
At the end of thirty-seven;
I'm living in New England,
And she's pretty close to Heaven.

The Rotary Club

Ladies' Night Program Enjoyed—C. R. Pomeroy Was Guest Speaker

The Rockland Rotary Club observed ladies' night yesterday at the Thorndike. After a fine turkey dinner the following musical program was presented by pupils from the High School:

Violin solo, Shirlene McKinney, accompanied by Miss Elizabeth Hagar, saxophone quartet, Virginia Rackliffe, Barbara Griffin, Priscilla Staples and Edwin Jones; boys' double quartet, directed by Albert McCarty, three selections. Miss McKinney and the double quartet have been invited to furnish the music for the final "Maine Schools on the Air" program May 5.

The speaker of the evening, Charles R. Pomeroy, Andrecoygn Probation Officer, told the story of his work in dealing with juvenile and adult delinquency. He emphasized the importance of personal contact with every case of crime. Every young offender who brought into court is thoroughly investigated. His school record, home environment, and community surroundings are all scrutinized for help in solving his problem. No juvenile is given a court record if it can be prevented. Agencies such as Boy Scouts, Y.M.C.A.'s and boys' clubs are contacted so that youth may have every opportunity to do better. Children who are on probation are required to be off the streets at 7 o'clock at night. They may attend one movie show a week.

Home work is required of all probationers. It was gratifying to hear the speaker say that there was no record in all New England that any Boy Scout had ever had a court record.

Mr. Pomeroy recommended a State probation system with one or more full time officers in every county. Experience has shown that 80% of all probation cases have gone straight. The cost of probation is about one-tenth the cost of the same time spent in prison.

Dr. George H. Coombs, Commissioner of Health for Maine, says, "Upon early diagnosis rests much of the chance of a cure for tuberculosis being effected. Our educational efforts must be directed toward early recognition of the disease."

At The High School

(By The Pupils)

The school band, parents, and friends of the 76 juniors and seniors and three chaperones who will leave Rockland Monday morning on the 8 o'clock train for Washington, D. C., will wave good-byes to a happy crowd. The 48 girls taking the trip are Katherine Jordan, Margaret Shute, Frances Marsh, Jean Clukey, Charlotte Staples, Priscilla Staples, Katherine Delano, Mertie Lindsey, Louise Waldron, Norma Frost, Dorothy Brewer, Virginia Haskell, Norma Haverer, Mary Dodge, Ethel Jordan, Maxine Perry, Virginia Wood, Inez Bowley, Patricia Hall, Virginia Rackliffe, Hester Hatch, Mary Sullivan, Alma Winchbach, Frances Hatch, Dorothy Smith, Evelyn Bragg, Madeline Philbrick, Kathleen Chase, Dorothy Howard, Barbara O'Neill, Eleanor Barnard, Barbara Griffin, Priscilla Lovejoy, Dorothy Frost, Barbara Derry, Marion Ludwick, Doris Borgerson, Ruth Thomas, Dorothy Sherman, Nancy Snow, Virginia Richards, Maxine Kent, Fern Britto, Alice Baum, Ruth Wheeler, Muriel Baum, Edith Gray, Eileen Cates.

Ruth Ward, Eleanor Tibbets, Joan Merrill of Newtonville, Mass. and Olive Rowell of Thomaston are also accompanying the group.

The senior members of the High School Orchestra who are to be presented with pins are Richard Ellingwood, Edward Storer, Gordon Richardson, Margaret Graves, Ethel Hayes, Barbara Griffin, Virginia Wood, and Dorothy Sherman. A committee composed of Dorothy Sherman and Gordon Richardson will select the pins.

Miss Stahl's Division I of Senior English enjoyed a "Vox Pop" program Monday, based on the articles in the April "Readers Digest." The program was in charge of Ethel Hayes, Marion Vinal, Russell Hewett, and Larry Brown. This plan is to be used again next month with Barbara Derry, Ruth Thomas, Donald Mariner, and Jack Huke as sponsors.

Tuesday afternoon the State Game Warden brought four little black bear cubs from Hancock County to exhibit to the pupils. It was said that the mother bear had been shot, and the cubs brought to the Game Warden. The cubs are going to be released in the Moose Head Lake region in August. This is in closed territory. They will be marked so it can be known how far they will travel before they are shot. They are between eight and nine weeks old now. They will probably grow to weigh between 300 and 400 pounds. It was a very interesting sight for all, and especially for the 7-1 Literature Class who have been studying about animals and the conservation of wild life.—Kathleen Weed, 7-1

The "Three Musketeers" in 3rd period typewriting class Monday were Marion Vinal, Helen Mills, and Pearl Leonard, by virtue of having written the highest number of most perfect papers. Other winners of seasonal awards this week were Charles Duff, Paul Horeysek, and Irma Thompson.

Ralph Hoffes has passed the 120-word transcription test in shorthand.

Seniors who have won awards for passing the Gregg 100-word transcription test are Virginia Willis, Elizabeth Harwood, Harriet Richardson, Virginia Haskell, Josephine Pellicane and Anna Pellicane.

Seniors who have made the 90-word transcription test are Fern Britto, Winifred Dimick, Ethel Hayes, Mary Sullivan, Margaret Davenport, Evelyn Bragg, Josephine Pellicane, Lillias Young, Ethel Jordan, Natalie Orne, Beatrice Pinkham, Frances Hatch, Meredith Mundie, Ida Shapiro, and Joan Philbrook.

Maxine Perry, a junior, passed the 80-word test this week. Juniors who have made the 60-word test are Edith Gray, Joseph Dondis, Inez Lorraine, Grant Davis, Agnes Johnson, Muriel Baum, and Kathleen Drake.

At a special meeting of the Press Club Tuesday night after school, pins were presented by Mr. McCarty to the 18 senior members. Those receiving awards were Doris Borgerson, Ruth Wheeler, Mildred Shannon, Marion Vinal, Louise Waldron, Virginia Richards, Stella Young, Dorothy Brewer, Helen Whitmore, Marion Ludwick, Sterling Morse, Donald Mariner, Bernard Thompson, and Robert Saunders.

Pins were also presented to Dorothy Frost, Ethel Hayes, Priscilla Lovejoy, and Barbara O'Neill, who have not belonged to the Press Club all the four years, but have given splendid services.

Principal Blaisdell was a special guest and speaker, expressing to the club members and Mr. McCarty his appreciation of the fine work they have done for the school.

A certificate of proficiency has been awarded Maude Johnson this week for having satisfactorily completed Twentieth Century Touch Typewriting. As the advanced typewriting pupils finish this course, they will take a course of instruction in stencil duplication, known as the mimeograph process.

School closed yesterday and will open again April 25.

The third quarter honor roll has been posted as follows: seniors, all A's, Frederick Perry, Ruth Thomas, John Huke, Doris Borgerson, Marion Ludwick, Valrie MacLaughlin, Donald Mariner, and Dorothy Frost; four A's, Dorothy Sherman, Marian Vinal, Florence Johnson, Maurice Leonard; three A's, Anna Pellicane, Josephine Pellicane, Helen Whitmore, Gardner Brown, Ralph Hoffes, Eino Laaksonen, and Evelyn Bragg; nothing below B, Ralph Rawley, Gordon Richardson, Edward Storer, Bernard Thompson, Virginia Willis, Stella Young, Richard Marsh, Dorothy Merriam, Virginia Merriam, Helen Mills, Bernard Berggren, Eugenia Bault, Kathleen Drake, Elizabeth Hammond, Virginia Haskell, Russell Hewett, Virginia Wood, and Ethel Hayes.

Juniors, all A's, Maude Johnson, Robert Harmon, Edith Gray, Harold Dondis, and Eileen Cates; four A's, Maxine Perry, Joseph Dondis, Grant Davis, and Norma Frost; three A's, Agnes Johnson, Dorothy Howard, Paul Horeysek, Tonia Lou-raine, Richard Fisher, Muriel Baum, and Priscilla Staples; nothing below B, Katherine Jordan, Earl Cook, Inez Bowley, Austin Billings, William Weed, Harriet Wooster, and Katherine Rice.

Freshmen, all A's, June Chatto, Stanley Murray, and Barbara Robinson; three A's, Mary Lamb and Shirlene McKinney; nothing below B, Maynard Green, Seth Hanley, Louise Harden, Ruth Goldberg, Ernest Harrington, Malcolm Ingraham, Elmer Haverer, Harold Tolman, Lucy Thompson, Floyd Young, Ruth Witham, Priscilla Brazier, John Crockett, Marguerite Mahoney, Geraldine Norton, Maomi Rackliffe, Jeannette Saunders, Lillian Savage, and Vivian Strout.

Office boys this week were Ernest Harrington, Irving McConchie, Elmer Pinkham, Alvin Perry, Charles Call, Elmer Conary, Robert Drake and Harold Tolman. Josephine Pellicane has been secretary to Mr. Blaisdell this week.

The Junior High baseball team is now in the process of organization. Forty-seven boys answered the call for candidates, and the weeding-out process has begun. Although no practice has been held officially outside yet, except battery practice, Coach Rosnagel has confidence that at least the team will be better than average. John Storer was made captain, and he, with the rest of the battery candidates, show plenty of class.

The Business League will operate in this sport also, with a trophy for the winner. The schedule is as follows:

April 28—Camden at Thomaston.
May 5—Rockland at Thomaston.
May 12—Camden at Rockland.
May 19—Rockland at Rockport.
May 26—Rockland at Camden.
June 2—Thomaston at Rockland.
June 9—Rockport at Rockland.
The games are to be played at 4 o'clock on the respective days, and will all be seven innings in length.

The home economics department was very much pleased to have as visitors, recently, Miss Stevens, supervisor from the State School for Girls at Hallowell and her home economics teacher, Miss Woodbury; and Miss Coney, the Assistant State Supervisor of Home Economics.

Mrs. Clara Kelsey has substituted in Junior High this week.

Driving lessons will be given to Seniors during vacation next week by State Patrolman Thompson.

Pelice Perry, winner of the Lydia O. Hamlin Spear Contest in the Southern district held here last week, will represent this school May 5 in August at the popular final competition held in the House of Representatives in the State House.

Although the practical philosophy of his lecture, interspersed with much humor, interested his listeners, his rapidly drawn cartoons, colored scenic views, and timely caricatures pertinent to the lecture greatly fascinated his audience.

Perhaps the most enjoyed was his drawings of "Uncle Sam" representing American life, and the drawings of the Spaniard, Frenchman, Dutchman, German, Englishman, Scotchman, Irishman, and Italian in his attempt to show that these nations have contributed in some measure to American life. The series of six entertainments in the series, concluded by Pitt Parker, have been instructive, inspiring, and thoroughly enjoyable.

An assignment on "hobbies of friends" in the domestic science classes this week brought out some interesting material. Eleanor Payson brought to class a miniature model of a dory, and a small log cabin used as an incense burner, made by friends in their leisure time. COMMUNITY BOWLERS' JOYFEST

Dinner At the Elks Home Followed By Awarding of Cups and Prizes With Fun Aplenty

(By Ruth Ward)

The first annual bowling banquet of Community Men's League was held Thursday night at 7 o'clock, at the Elks Home, and was one of the most enjoyable affairs of the season. There were 68 present, special guests being that grand old man of bowling John L. Thomas, Miss Louise McIntosh, Miss Ruth Ward, secretary-treasurer and reporter of the league, F. A. Winslow, John M. Richardson, James Flanagan, right hand man of the league, Earle C. Dow and Raphael S. Sherman.

Roger Jameson for Rice's and George Sleeper for the Lions made brief remarks, followed by George Cumming, Ralph Glidden of Ar-

Fred C. Black, whose donation of his famous canned corn on the cob was a pleasing addition to the supper, said that this year more enthusiasm had been shown for bowling than ever before in this section, and hoped the patronage of the Community alleys and Star alleys would continue. James Flanagan expressed appreciation of the good sportsmanship shown by all the league members, and that he is looking forward to next year's big-

During the serving of a delicious roast beef supper, the orchestra comprising Eddie Whalen, Harold Bates and Yale Goldberg, were heartily assisted with the singing of the crowd. Presentation of prizes were made by Jim, a beautiful cup donated by Community Building, going to the Elks for first place, Fred Black accepting it for his teammates. Clyde Mosher received the cup for the second place team, Five Aces. Other awards were a bowling set to Ray Bowden to practice on; also Roy Mitchell for high average, 192.9;

A rising vote of thanks was given the members of Elks for their courtesy and hospitality in giving "open house" to the guests, appreciation being expressed by long and loud applause. Doc Annis runner-up to Mr. Bowden, "tried hard to get Ray's position, but he beat me out." Albert McCarty spoke for the Faculty team, followed by Capt. Clyde Mosher of the Five Aces. John M. Richardson expressed his personal thanks and the appreciation of the Official Board of Community Building for the generous support the league has given the institution.

"Where Do We Go From Here" was the subject of Pitt Parker's lecture-entertainment Wednesday afternoon, before the Senior and Junior High students, in which he combined art, humor, and skill.

Although the practical philosophy of his lecture, interspersed with much humor, interested his listeners, his rapidly drawn cartoons, colored scenic views, and timely caricatures pertinent to the lecture greatly fascinated his audience.

Perhaps the most enjoyed was his drawings of "Uncle Sam" representing American life, and the drawings of the Spaniard, Frenchman, Dutchman, German, Englishman, Scotchman, Irishman, and Italian in his attempt to show that these nations have contributed in some measure to American life. The series of six entertainments in the series, concluded by Pitt Parker, have been instructive, inspiring, and thoroughly enjoyable.

Gifts were presented the pin boys, Mike Leo and Eugene Mitchell, and to Miss Ward, in appreciation of services.

Fred Black read two clever poems one to the 12 members of the league the other to Jim Flanagan. John L. Thomas made the shortest speech but received an ovation that showed his place in the hearts of the group. Joe Seyfarer, chairman of the Elks home committee, did a royal good job in putting across the highly successful affair.

Following the ceremonies many of the group remained to enjoy the charming hospitality of the Elks while others betook themselves to the bowling alleys like a fireman on vacation. One class in domestic science has planned a "family night" to try out at home, which consists of planning and preparing a dinner using the family's favorite recipes, and an evening's entertainment for all members of the family to do together. This is in connection with the study of Family Relationship.

Seniors who are taking the college preparatory course took the U. of M. scholarship examinations Thursday and Friday. These exams covered algebra, chemistry, French, history, physics, English and Latin.

LIVING IN GLASS HOUSE

To Mr. "Indignant Citizen": It has been called to my attention that a certain citizen of Rockland is selling lottery tickets.

A few weeks ago this same citizen had an article in his paper condemning other breakers of the city ordinances. In fact he condemned the City Council and other law-enforcing agencies for their seeming lack of co-operation. Now he seems to forget his responsibility as a respected citizen. This same citizen encourages honest people to break a law in order that he as an individual may profit financially.

So to Mr. "Indignant Citizen" we suggest that you move out of your glass house before you throw any more rocks.

Most Anybody.

Do you want to SAVE MONEY?

The Standard Coupe

The Standard Ford V-8, with 60-horsepower engine, gives you a lot of car for a little money.

300,000 new owners acclaimed the "thrifty 60" last year. Hundreds a day are buying it in 1938. Why?

Because it is priced low—includes essential equipment without extra charge—and goes farther between filling stations than any Ford car ever built. Owners all over the country report averages of 22 to 27 miles on a single gallon of gasoline.

But economy isn't all the story by any means. The Standard "60" is built with the same precision as the De Luxe "85," and has the same 112-inch wheelbase chassis. It is easy to look at and ride in—as well as easy to buy and run. There's a Ford dealer near you.

An Open Letter

Smaller Business Council Gives Its Views To the President

At a meeting of representatives of smaller businesses from all over the country at the Hotel Commodore in New York recently, presided over by James G. Daly, President of the National Smaller Business Council, an open letter, prepared by the Smaller Business Association of New England, was unanimously endorsed for transmittal to the President. It said:

Dear Mr. President:—When a few weeks ago you asked advice on the business situation and on relief of unemployment, two of the important factors tending to hold back recovery as outlined by Smaller Business were:

1. The amount and type of taxes.

2. Fear of the evil effects of the steadily increasing public debt.

Yet little has been done by the Administration along these lines to restore confidence; and we read in the Press that it is now contemplated that a sum variously listed as from 1½ billion to 6 billion be raised for loans to municipalities and public bodies for buildings and public works and projects, the loans to bear no interest.

You are, of course, subject to constant pressure by the "spending our way out of the depression" school; and the plea to first balance the human budget has its appeal to one of your humanitarian instincts—"income 20 shillings, outgo 21 shillings, result misery; income 20 shillings, outgo 19 shillings, result happiness"—doesn't this class hold true, whether of individuals or nations? If we want to balance the "humanity budget," is not a balance of the financial budget most important?

The question naturally arises—From where will the billions come? And if bonds are to be issued who does pay the interest? And who eventually has to pay the loan? The money cannot come out of the "thin air."

And would the projects be self supporting and self liquidating? Would they impose upon the borrowers added year after year expense of upkeep. Are not the taxpayers and businesses of many municipalities already overburdened in carrying on revenue—returning projects?

And does this repeated pouring into the pump really prime it? Or has the pump a leaky valve that wastes and makes ineffectual the priming?

When government spending is carried beyond a certain point, does it disturb confidence and control jobs to a much greater extent than the spending creates jobs?

Will not this program, well intended though it may be, thus defeat its own purpose by engendering further distrusts?

Is the business man wrong in laying down as a first requisite to the return of confidence, curtailment of expenditures, directed at attaining a balanced budget? Would not this money or potential credit much better serve the desired purpose by leaving it in the channels of trade and business?

Reducing unemployment should be the first concern of everyone. This can most effectively only be done by a revival of business and as small businesses are 97% of the entire country's businesses, their confidence and activity are absolutely indispensable.

Were you to take more closely into your circle of advisers, more Small Business, they might helpfully furnish from many problems an insight that should be of a constructive nature.

Until the public feels that there is a sincere effort being made to reduce the tendency toward increasing debt, no amount of priming will effectively start the business cycle upward.

A firm stand by you for a balanced budget by word and by action would be the greatest single factor towards restoring that confidence without which all seem to agree there can be no recovery.

With confidence re-established your administration and the country will find themselves at the threshold of a new and glorious era.

Dr. John Smith Lowe delivered the sermon at the Good Friday evening service in the First Congregational Church in Camden last night.

Bradford Redonnet of Wiscasset one of Maine's most gifted orators, will be the speaker next Wednesday night at the tower room, Community Building, under auspices of the Brann for Governor Club. The public is invited.

Mrs. Helen Batchelder Shute, graduate of Rockland High School and Rockland Commercial College is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for State Senator in Waldo County. Mrs. Shute is one of the ablest newspaper workers in the State, and an outstanding leader of social activities in her adopted city.

"The Adventures of Tom Sawyer," a story which touches the heart of the world, will be shown in technicolor at Strand Theatre Sunday, Monday and Tuesday. For Wednesday only "Tip-Off Girls," and for Thursday, Friday and Saturday "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," featuring Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper.

The next sparring exhibition at the Potato Bowl will take place next Friday night, and to prevent a recurrence of this week's unsafe and uncomfortable congestion the ticket sale will cease after a certain number have been admitted. In the main bout will be seen K. O. Morgan, 185 (pounds) of Worcester and Gene Bernier of Lewiston.

A flock of wild geese honked over the city Thursday night, and was followed shortly after 5 o'clock yesterday morning by two flocks which were so small as to give the appearance that a large flock had become divided. It is quite possible that one section was made up New Dealers and the other represented the Coalition Democrats and Republicans.

The regular meeting of the Friendly Foto Fans will be held April 19 and will be the annual meeting, election of officers and registration of members. President Cross appointed Charles L. Veazie, Hugh Little and John A. Perry as nominating committee. The Bangor Club is having an exhibition soon, and has invited contributions from the Rockland group. All members having prints for this exhibition should present them at the next regular meeting in Rockland for approval. Prints should be 8x10 and if possible mounted. There will be four exhibition mounts available for those chosen but it will help if additional mounts can be provided. All members are urged to submit pictures.

Three Universalist Mission Circle met Wednesday afternoon with 21 members attending, and Mrs. Adelaide Lowe, president, in the chair. Reports from the various committees, showed that each is functioning in a valuable and helpful manner. Mrs. Maude Blodgett's report on the campaign for a new administration building at the Clara Barton Camp for Diabetic girls at North Oxford, Mass., was comprehensive and she spoke a word of commendation for the interest and help already extended by the Mission Circle of the Rockland Church. The devotional period was opened by a beautiful poem entitled "Awakening," and the service included hymns appropriate to Holy Week and responsive reading. The formal program was opened with religious current events by Mrs. Gladys Heistad of Rockport, whose items touched upon activities of several creeds and showed a diverse interest. Miss Myrtle Herrick read from the study book "Rebuilding Rural America" by Mark A. Dawber, the chapter entitled "Rural Leadership." The refreshment hour was in charge of Miss Ellen Cochran, Miss Maude Pratt, Mrs. Mabel Sherman, Miss Harriet Parmalee, Mrs. Gertrude Russell, Mrs. Elizabeth Flanders and Miss Margaret Stahl. The tea table was graced with a beautiful bouquet of roses the gift of Mr. and Mrs. H. O. Gurdy from their recent Golden Wedding observance. The meeting May 11, will be at the summer home of Mrs. Blodgett at Spruce Head with box lunch to be augmented by hot coffee served by the hostess.

Lillian Pelletier Grover, lately with the Boston Marble Beauty System Salons, has joined the staff of the Mabelle Beauty Shop. 46-47

Rubinstein Chorus will hold a rehearsal Monday night at 7:30, with Mrs. Faith Berry, Grove street.

The Republican City Committee has endorsed Frank W. Fuller for a position on the Registration Board.

The April session of Knox County Probate Court falling on a holiday next Tuesday, will be adjourned to the following day at the same hour.

Monday night an attraction at Community bowling alleys will be the match between William Jewett of Bath and Frank Gardner. Jewett rolled a 133 string the first week, he rolled the alleys last week, his second string 110. In a practice string with Gardner, he had 97 and Gardner 110. It promises to be a good match.

After a brief business meeting Wednesday night, Ralph Ulmer Auxiliary, U.S.W.V. celebrated its eighth anniversary with an informal party. Beano was enjoyed quite a few guests receiving prizes. Refreshments included a large birthday cake, artistically decorated and bearing eight candles. Members of Ralph Ulmer Camp were guests, those from out of town being Mesdames Pushaw and Dean and Mr. and Mrs. George Higgins of Camden.

High School students from the Second District, visiting Washington this spring will find themselves happily entertained by Mrs. Clyde H. Smith, wife of the Second District Congressman. The Representative has reserved a row of boxes at Griffith Stadium for the opening of the major league baseball season Monday so that the Maine boys and girls can see the President throw out the first ball. The students are also taking the trip to the National Zoological Park. For some reason most of the formal itineraries omit the Zoo, although the boys and girls like it better than anything else. Smith loads them into cars or buses and takes them to the Zoo and then to Glen Echo, which is the Coney Island of Washington.

William Hayes of East Barrington, N. H., is in the city from St. Petersburg, Fla., where he spent the winter. In his role as scout for the New York Yankees he has the utmost confidence that the World's Champions will repeat this year. He is a guest at the home of Donald F. Perry.

Strong High School broadcast a program over Station WLBZ Thursday night, and the event had local interest; from the fact that the principal, Horace P. Maxcy, is a Rockland boy. His portion of the program, a 5-minute talk impressed local listeners as a most admirable one.

The Rockland League of Women Voters next study group, will meet Monday at 2:30, at 108 Talbot avenue. All members who are interested in the subject "Know Your Town," especially the department of education, are invited. George Cummings, superintendent of the Rockland schools will be present.

Gus Maynard, familiarly known to old time roller polo fans as "Old Hoss," died a few days ago in St. Louis. Maynard played half back on the local team, and if the writer's memory is correct introduced ankle running in the Maine League. After leaving Rockland he entered the employ of Hartleb & Cheltra in Bath and played with polo teams in that city. He went West about 20 years ago. The fans ate from his hand while he played in those two cities.

Major Berthold Vogel who was in Knox County this week to inspect the Rockland and Thomaston batteries of the 240th C. A. Regiment was tendered a complimentary banquet at Hotel Rockland. The other guests were Lieut. Willis McD Blaney of Rockland, Major Alonzo Chapin of Portland, Major George B. Holmes of Brunswick, Capt. Charles G. Hewett and Lieut. Everett K. Mills, Rockland, Second Lieut. Warren Feyer of Thomaston, Second Lieut. Cecil B. White of Rockland and Second Lieut. Edgar McCobb of Camden.

The First Baptist C. E. is planning a special Easter service for Sunday night at 6. The last week in the life of Christ followed by the Easter message is to be given in story and song. Eleanor Harper is playing the trumpet and Shirleen McKinney the violin. A chorus will sing several selections. This group consists of Pauline Tatham, Grace Blodgett, Meredith Mundy, Ellen Maddocks, Virginia Gray, Helen Mills, Reginald McLaughlin, Alfred Young, Kenneth Hooper, Roy Joyce, Ansel Young, Maynard Ames, Walter Staples and Maurice McKusik. Those who will give the narrative story from the gospels are Virginia Egan, Florence Philbrook and Dorothy Sherman.

Receipts from the sale of principal farm crops in Maine during January, as reported by the U. S. bureau of agricultural economics, amounted to $1,681,000 compared with $4,916,000 in January 1937. Lower potato prices account for the great decline.

BORN
Mills—At North Haven, April 11 to Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Mills a son—Alden Ray.

Newhall—At Rockland April 16, Frank Wilford, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Newhall.
Davis—At East Union, April 15, Nellie A. widow of Elbridge H. Davis, aged 77 years, 2 months, 11 days. Funeral Monday at 2 o'clock from residence in East Union.

CARD OF THANKS
Words fail to express our gratitude to Mr. and Mrs. Gardner J. Mank who have so generously devoted their time to alleviate our great sorrow, in the recent loss of our dear son.
Mr. and Mrs. John L. Flanders, Waldoboro, April 16.

IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of Floyd A. Duncan, who passed away April 18, 1937. Just when life was sweetest, and he could have lived his best, The gates of heaven opened and God called him home to rest. He had a kindly word for each, and died beloved by all; His smiling face and pleasant way are a pleasure to recall. We often think of days gone by when we were all together—A shadow o'er our lives is cast for he is gone forever. Sadly missed by his wife, daughter, mother, father and sister.

IN MEMORIAM
In memory of Adam Soboleski, who died April 17, 1935. Gone from our Home, Oh how we miss him. Loving him dearly, his memory we'll keep. Not till life ends shall we forget him. Sacred to us is the place where he sleeps. Remembered by his daughter Mary Winslow, and granddaughter Margaret.

Taught In China
Miss Sanderson, Forced Out By Japs, Speaks Here Monday Night
In 1917, while Miss Abbie G. Sanderson was planning to give a year to theological study at Newton, a cable came from Swatow, China, telling of an unexpected vacancy in the Abigail Hart Scott Memorial School teaching staff and asking that some one be sent immediately. Miss Sanderson volunteered and sailed for the South China field early in 1918. At that time the Abigail Hart Scott Memorial School was joined with the Boys' School to become the present Kak-Kuang Academy. Kak-Kuang Academy is an institution of the Ling Tong Convention and the government of the school is under Chinese Christian control. From this school have gone forth many Christian leaders. In 1937 came the Japanese invasion with attacks on Swatow, including bombing from the air. Hostilities made it necessary to close the school and, with other missionaries, Miss Sanderson left Swatow. Many inhabitants living on the mainland sought refuge on the island of Kachieh in Swatow Bay, where is located the Baptist Mission compound, and the English Presbyterian Hospital was provided with temporary quarters there. It was in Waterville that Miss Sanderson spent nearly all her years of preparation, graduating from Coburn Classical Institute there and later from Colby College. As a

SERMONETTE
Sunday—Resurrection Morning
Mary Magdalene, as Sunday broke came while it was yet dark to the tomb. She found it empty. An earthquake had rolled away the great stone, and on it sat an angel, but the tomb was empty. She ran and found Simon Peter and John. Breathless she told them, "They have taken away the Lord, and we know not where they have laid Him." Peter ran, but John ran faster; they found an empty tomb. Not to them but to Mary Magdalene did Jesus disclose Himself on this resurrection morning. Not to these disciples but to the other woman came the words the world will sing this Easter day. "He is risen, he is not here." Isalah, Job, the Psalmist, centuries before foretold this fact of resurrection.
Proclaimed by Christ, preached by the Apostles, what does the resurrection mean to you? To me it is the center and soul of the Christian faith. Let us read again Jesus words, "As touching the resurrection of the dead, God is not the God of the dead but of the living. 'Thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just.' 'I am the resurrection and the life; he that believeth on me though he be dead yet shall he live; and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die.' As soon as it is light on this Easter day in 1938, go with Mary Magdalene and the other women to the empty tomb and hear again the words, 'He is risen, he is not here.'"

HOLLYWOOD STAR-LITES

By Ronald Coleman

Hollywood: The series-pictures are just coming into their own in this film city. They are money-makers first, because they are down-to-the-earth good pictures, well played, written and directed, and above all, they possess the same serial idea that has been the great circulation builder for newspapers and magazines. "Charlie Chan," "Jones Family," "Judge Hardy," "Mr. Moto" and others are the pictures referred to in this group. It's a grand idea and will go far. For instance, the latest series picture is "Judge Hardy's Children" and it is an evening of grand entertainment for the whole family.

SEARSMONT

Less than a year ago, the studios producing westerns told Hoot Gibson he was through and no longer a box office attraction. Last week this same Hoot returned to Hollywood. He had just completed a long tour with a circus and his average weekly salary was $2100. In another couple weeks he leaves again to tour Canada with the Robins Brothers' show at a salary even higher.

Miss Barbara Bryant of Islesford was Sunday guest of Mrs. Mary Bryant of this place.

Mrs. Julia Levenseller who has been very ill is better.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Buck of this place have gone to Augusta where Mr. Buck has employment.

The snow has nearly gone and all are glad for the birds. Sunday a large flock of birds and of a great many different kinds were in the yard and on the porch of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Duntun's where they got a liberal feed.

rolled in the College Course. Those receiving the highest rank in each subject are as follows: English, Austin Rankin, Norma White and Ellen Carwell; Algebra, Wallace Heal, Austin Rankin, French, Wallace Heal, Barbara Johnson, History, Mark Ingraham, Edward Ware, Chemistry, Mark Ingraham, Physics, Austin Rankin, Latin, Verna Herick, Barbara Johnson, Charlie Wadsworth. The two students whose total ranks average highest will compete in the semi-finals in Rockland. The date will be announced later.

The freshmen have also been busy with examinations. Monday they were given the Otis Self Administering Achievement Tests. These are given every year and have proved very beneficial to both students and teacher.

We have been thinking lately that our seasons have reversed with all the snow and sleet that accompanied us to school this last week. We have been reassured, however, through the biology class this spring is really here. To prove their point, interested freshmen take us to some of the windows and there we see beans and cucumbers already coming out of the ground. It won't be long now before they are having green peas. Why didn't we all take biology?

The junior prize speakers have been getting pointers. They attended the Lydia A. Spear District Contest in Rockland last Friday night. Miss Hester Ordway was one of the judges.

The Senior Class pictures were to be taken Wednesday, but as weather conditions prevented, the visit of the photographer was postponed until Thursday.

The school year is really coming fast to a close. Monday morning the seniors were measured for their caps and gowns.

Camden will be represented as usual in the Montgomery Speaking Contest held at Colby College May 6. Mark Ingraham will give the well known piece "Ropes." Those who have heard Mark speak realize that he is well qualified to represent his school.

This week the classes had a strange interruption. On looking out of the windows, the students saw four baby bear cubs playing in the sunlight. Classes were broken up for a short recess while the pupils, some of whom had never seen a bear, inspected the animals and listened to the information given by their keeper. Two State foresters were exhibiting them as a part of the educational program that is going forward all over the state in an effort to conserve our wild life.

Teacher, that candid camera man is here again. And what fun the pupils had having their pictures taken! A few of them were evidently more interested in being in the movies than in watching the bears.

Garden Club Effort
The Roadside Beautification committee of the Camden Garden Club has been making every effort to save the beautiful elm trees on lower Elm street where a new filling station is to be erected. These trees have adorned the streets of Camden for many years, and make a picturesque driveway into the principal section of the town.

Fifty or sixty cold storage locker plants will be in operation in Illinois by the end of this summer. This is one of the mid-western states in which storage locker plants are rapidly becoming popular.

GUARDIANS OF OUR COAST

What our lightkeepers and coast guardsmen are doing to protect coastwise shipping by day and by night. The day's news from many lonely outposts along Maine's waterfront.

Deer Isle Light

There have been some nice spring days lately, and Keeper Robinson has started his spring cleaning and painting. It will soon be time to start work on gardens and flower beds.

Tender Hibiscus landed supplies here March 30. Asst. Supt. Sampson inspected the station.

Rachel Robinson recently called on Mrs. S. A. McDonald at Stonington.

We would greatly enjoy a visit from Keeper Wells and Mr. Alley of Saddleback Light.

Robert Smith and James Holland of Stonington were recent overnight guests and helped us enjoy our last freezer of ice cream for the season.

A pair of purple grackles have arrived and taken possession of the bird house.

We congratulate Henry Foster on his retirement from the lighthouse service, and are looking forward to a long promised visit from him and Mrs. Foster this summer.

Schooner Annie and Reuben of Stonington passed by recently loaded with stone for Boston.

Wood Island Light

Officially spring has arrived, but if one does not freeze before it warms up, one will be lucky.

The boys from Fletcher's Neck Coast Guard Station landed a new table top oil stove, and it is certainly a honey. With the electrolux refrigerator it makes life more worth living on an island.

Here's hoping that Mr. Hupper's family at Port Clyde are all well again soon, and Capt. Hamor's daughter at Owl's Head and will visit us real soon with Ma, Pa, Mill and Spotty.

Mr. Snow has gone on 15 days' leave and is taking in the sights with his new Ford coupe.

The lobster catchers are getting ready for spring fishing after a hard scant winter.

The vanguard of the summer visitors has arrived to get their cottages ready for the season.

Now spring cleaning and getting the lawn mower ready for summer. Best regards along the coast.

Baker Island

Superintendent Sampson came in the Hibiscus March 30 to inspect this station.

The Hibiscus took Additional Keeper Herbert Mitchell to Mt. Desert Rock Light Station March 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Rier accepted the invitation of Keeper and Mrs. Frank Faulkingham to spend the weekend at Baker Island. They motored from Lubec, and the Picket Boat brought them to the Island.

They enjoyed themselves very much. Their daughter Mrs. Herbert Mitchell accompanied them home.

Freddie Fernald of Islesford is spending a week at this station.

Calvin Alley and Elmer Marsten went to Mt. Desert Rock Tuesday to get Additional Keeper Mitchell to take up the duties at Baker Island as Keeper Faulkingham is confined to the house with intestinal flu.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Zwicker brought Keeper Mitchell's wife from Lubec yesterday and picket boat brought her back to the Island.

Squirrel Point Light

Master James celebrated his birthday recently with the usual birthday cake bearing three candles. Looks a bit like spring today after the heavy snow of last week. We have patches of green grass here in spite of winter weather so late.

There are many kinds of small birds here and during the recent snow Keeper Seavey cleared a spot of ground and put out a meal down

Ministry Of Music

Biography of William R. Chapman Reviewed By One Who Sang in Chorus

"Ministry of Music" — wisely chosen title for the biography of William Rogers Chapman, for this man, nationally known for his musical accomplishments — composer, teacher, conductor, organist — was a true minister of music, carrying it to the four corners, a figurative expression which becomes almost literal in Maine where he traversed to all parts of the State, over limitless miles in the interests of the Maine Music Festival of which he was organizer, promoter, and director-in-chief.

The publishers, the Southworth-Athens Press of Portland, have produced a volume of distinction, handsomely bound in blue, the title page carrying an imprint of the Chapman coat of arms, an exact representation of the copies found in Burke's "Landed Gentry," and other authentic works on heraldry. Dr. Chapman's widow, Emma L. Chapman, to whom the book owes its inception, and Miss Holway Caswell, who as author collaborated with her, have compiled a book of nearly 500 pages, containing 45 illustrations which include Dr. and Mrs. Chapman, rare family portraits, and other related subjects, but chiefly of the great singers of opera and concert of Dr. Chapman's time and under his baton. The book is printed on an excellent quality of paper.

This biography, true to biographical style, covers all facets of Dr. Chapman's busy life and its tremendous scope of activities. It will have a particular appeal to Maine, as Chapman did much to revive music and stimulate the musical education of the past generation of the Pine Cone State. His contribution to Maine was unique, and for that reason his attainments here in this State stand out from the tapestry of his life in more glowing colors than seen elsewhere in the weaving.

It is gratifying that in many places in the book, as well as in the preface, tribute is paid to Mrs. Chapman, for her influence in the development and success of her husband cannot be gauged. Always by his side, she lent graciousness, sympathy, tact and ability to all his endeavors and undertakings. She had that rare combination of efficiency and charm. Her executive ability has been nothing short of remarkable, yet that power was always wielded with a wisdom and tact that won every heart. Taking the liberty to quote from the preface: "She was more than a dutiful wife—she was a mentor, a guide and a never-failing source of help and inspiration," and it is the very evidences of that "fine mind, attention, helpfulness, ability, experience and aptitude" that brought the planning and preparation of this biography of her husband to its ultimate realization.

In the selection of Miss Holway Caswell as author, it would seem that Mrs. Chapman showed infinite wisdom, for Miss Caswell not only presents her material with a keen and sensitive understanding, but makes the biography read like a novel in its fascinating pages. Miss Caswell is a Portland newspaper woman who had in the past assisted Dr. and Mrs. Chapman with publicity. Her work in this book commends highest praise. It was no small task to make continuity bloom from the vast mass of data which included letters, newspaper clippings, programs, records, etc., which were supplied her.

Everywhere one senses that Miss Caswell felt the vibrant spirit of the life it was her privilege to put on paper from the data supplied by Mrs. Chapman who shared her husband's life work as perhaps few wives have done—"a source of strength and understanding in his struggles, of inspiration for his triumphs," as one reviewer has said. In the pages one knows has unbounded effort, infinite research and limitless time.

Miss Caswell's book, a panorama of personalities and performances recapping more than a quarter of a century perpetuates a vitally important chapter in Maine history. And what memories it will recall to those who were a part of the Maine Festivals and loved it. It seems to me as if every member now living who sang in the chorus under Dr. Chapman's baton will want a copy. I was a member of the Festival Chorus for years (from the Wight Philharmonic Society of Rockland), and under Chapman's leadership became acquainted with much of the world's best music—orchestra and opera as well as choral and instrumental works of the great composers—and was privileged to hear artists whose fame has never been equalled.

Names to conjure with marked the Festivals—Emma Eames, Lillian Nordica, Ernestine Schumann-Hoink, Emma Calve, Eva Williams, Don Beddie, Rosa Ponselle, Edward Johnson, John McCormack, Rosa Raisa, Mary Garden, Percy Grainger, Nellie Melba, Lillian Blauvelt, Louis Gravelle, Luciezia Bori, Sembrich, Reinold Warrenworth, Gallucci, Jerizeta, Geraldine Farrar, Alma Gluck, Campanari, Sigrid Onegin—one could go on almost indefinitely in producing a list of imposing proportions.

All these famous artists augmented by lesser artists, many of whom have become famous in their own right—for Chapman was always ready to encourage the young and ambitious musician. I was 18 years old when I went to my first Festival as part of the chorus. Think what such an experience means to a girl of that age, whose mind is at its most receptive and retentive state.

How near right I am in saying that Chapman wielded a tremendous influence in the formative years of my music study! How right I am in saying that I owe to him much for the building of what musical background I have acquired and which has stood me in such good stead over the years! Over and over again have I harked back to those Festival days for information needed for my music column or for an inquiring friend. And as I grazed through the book upon its arrival how humble I felt to find that Mrs. Chapman had included my tribute expressed when Dr. Chapman had been gathered to his forebears.

The book, to return to the main subject, deals with Dr. Chapman's ancestry, his personality, and his achievements in the field of music to which his whole life was dedicated and which set him aside as a musical genius. We read of the birth of William (or Willie as he was called among his own) on Aug. 4, 1855, the son of Emily Irene (Bishop) and William Rogers Chapman, of the father ill and insensible through paralysis never to see or know about his son who was baptized over his father's casket just three months after birth.

There are charming pages of Willie's boyhood and his days as a student at Gould Academy and later at the School of the Collegiate Dutch Reformed Church in New York where he entered upon a preparatory theological course. We learn that during confinement of 15 months in a darkened room with failure of eyesight his natural gift and love for music showed itself, that it was then the decision was made to divert his life from ministry to music. Thereon the pages are devoted to the unfolding and development of this musical life, pictures of his early public life when not yet 20 he was already recognized as organist and choir master, a piano virtuoso, composer, conductor and teacher.

Again there are charming pages telling of his meeting, courtship and marriage with his distant cousin blue-eyed blonde Emma Louise Faulkner, of the honeymoon at Bethel, Chapman's boyhood home, and the birth of their daughter, their only child. We read of the formation of the Musurgia Choral Society (male voices) and later of the Rubinstein Club, the first woman's choral club in New York and which was to attain phenomenal success. Various musical activities are sketched, and then in 1895 we find Chapman's interests turning to Maine after Nordic had told him there was a field which needed him and his genius.

There are exciting pages of the first Festival—Nordica, Blauvelt, Evan Williams, Gwilym Miles, Hans Kronold and others, with our own beloved "Aunt" Emma Wight as one of the accompanists; the brilliant reviews given by Maine and Massachusetts newspapers, with W. O. Fuller's own vivid account which makes entrancing reading in itself. There are pages devoted to succeeding Festivals, of the great artists who were featured in them, with intimate stories in connection with many of them—some pathetic, some tragic, some laughable, some appealing—and so it goes on, fascinating pictures of musical life in New York and Maine and in between, each detailing into the other to make a peculiar whole.

It was a life brimming and overflowing with movement and activity, even when his health began to show strain and the years began to tell their toll. There was no surcease until the sickness which brought about his death on March 27, 1935, in the 80th year of his life.

Tributes poured in, we learn, from the four corners of the earth, and many were the memorial services held for him. On his headstone of white marble is this epitaph: "He Has Moved a Little Nearer to the Master of All Music," the tribute of a loving daughter to the memory of her father. As we review the pages of this fine book we are more than ever convinced that his life and work were a veritable ministry of music and it must be this unique place which posterity will accord him in the history of music.

While the book contains a series of enlightening notes pertaining to various facts in the content, there is an appendix of great value to those of the Maine Festival days, for it contains the names of the artists who appeared, as well as orchestral selections, choral works, the vocal and instrumental solos, etc., from 1897 to 1935. Also a list of all the choruses which participated in the Festivals, a list of Chapman's best known compositions, quotations from critics' articles in many parts of the country, and testimonials after death.

It is a book that will be a choice addition to anyone's library, for it is a graphic picture of the contemporary scene. It will be of particular value to those once-upon-a-time members of the Maine Festival choruses, who will never forget their presiding genius, William Rogers Chapman.

BIRD OF MYSTERY IS RUFFED GROUSE

By "Ding" Darling

In making the choice for the 16 paintings for this year's Wildlife Week poster stamps, there were many contenders for preference, but there was never any question about the place held by the ruffed grouse in esteem of the naturalist as well as the sportsman.

Yes, here's one more King—King of Upland-Game Birds! Partridge in the North, pheasant in the South, the ruffed grouse is a favorite in the eastern half of the United States and far up into Canada.

The mystery of the woodlands is expressed in the drumming of the grouse. Before the snow has left the ground, the males have selected their drumming logs, usually in thickets along the edges of swampy ground, from which to send forth the mating summons. The drumming impulse, and on an Indian bing, beginning with a slow beat that gradually increases its tempo until there is a continuous sound, like an outboard motor running at full speed—but far, far away. Always far away, whether you are within a few yards of a drummer, or half a mile distant on a still day.

Grouse drum by day, they drum by night. There comes in the autumn a strange return of the drumming impulse, and on an Indian summer afternoon, or a misty November night, the tom-tom of the grouse fills the air with its soft rhythm, made by the swift clapping of wings against the bird's body.

The ruffed grouse is in other respects a bird of a mystery. At times, in the autumn, grouse seem to go crazy. They fly through windows, invade cities, lose all fear. Old-timers have accused grouse of getting drunk on wild-grapes that have fermented in the sun. Naturalists have given other reasons for the fall madness, among them nature's determination to break up the family flocks.

Another grouse mystery is the periodic decline in numbers. About every eight years, the grouse cycle goes from high to low. A lot of study has been given to this problem, and the explanations range from sunspots to epidemic disease. Yet no one knows for sure.

The ruffed grouse of the woodlands has stubbornly resisted the combined forces of enemy attacks and persists periodically in goodly numbers but some of its near relatives have not fared so well. The heath hen is gone and the prairie chicken of the west clings to a few remote spots in a faint shadow of its former abundance.

The final league matches of the season were held last Friday night, the Post Office coming through with a 45 pin win over Kiwanis Club. Dard Rackliffe and George Brackett did things for their averages, getting high total of 313. Brackett's 129 was single string, high. The Kiwanians had the first string in their favor, but were sunk on the other two.

Battling neck and neck most of the time, the Faculty-Lions match caused a lot of excitement, with the Lions on top with 25 pins at the finish. The scores did not run very high, the pins falling hard. The Lions won the first two strings and were up 31 pins, and the Faculty by winning the third string, made up six. Doc Newman had the high total, 274. John Durrell right behind him with 273, and his 110 was single string high. The scores:
